

Security Solution

Protecting your data and your information.

Knowledge is power, but in the wrong hands it can also be very destructive, damaging your business and your reputation. Security must take top priority if you are to prevent theft or unauthorised manipulation of information; also viruses attacking your networks and internal systems. The answer, of course, is to provide secure connections for your entire workforce, including mobile employees, but we appreciate it's not simple. Most organisations don't have the in-house expertise or resources to make informed decisions about security or to implement the appropriate system.

Impact of failure to act

It's imperative that every responsible organisation takes preventative measures now, or the consequences could be too serious to put right. Failing to install suitable security systems and controls could lead to:

- The loss or corruption of sensitive information by unauthorised internal or external users. Viruses, malware, spyware and phishing attacks can infiltrate systems and damage data or hardware with devastating effects on your business and your good name.
- Disruption, causing increased hardware and software costs, and depletion of your IT resources.
- Your business being vulnerable to hacking, information theft and system destruction, because you have not acquired the necessary know-how to put robust security in place. Without protection, no organisation can maintain data integrity and runs the risk of not meeting required business and legal regulations or standards.

What's more, now that the traditional 9 to 5 desk-based office is rapidly becoming a thing of the past, your mobile workforce must be securely connected to internal systems to remain productive. Providing this connection without protection will open your business and your data to a host of devastating attacks and viruses - even theft.

Business Requirements

Your information, your people and your reputation are your three most valuable and irreplaceable assets. The right communications and data security system will protect all three. Look for a solution that delivers:

- Controlled access to business information and premises.
- Protection against attack for your assets, without interruption to service or slower interaction.
- Secure links to remote offices and remote users.
- Compliance with internal security policies and legal requirements.

The Northgate Security Solution

Northgate will build a security system around your needs and your resources, selecting only the most innovative 'best-in-class' products to meet the most demanding challenges. We have developed our solutions based on extensive experience working with all types of organisations, large and small, to create protection that stays ahead of your evolving company.

Our layered approach to security ensures there is not a single point of weakness and provides you with a true end-to-end solution which will mitigate against or eliminate security risks. Northgate's robust system is always on alert to protect your assets from attacks, assuring a secure, reliable system for your employees and customers.

- All internal and external communications will be secured and access rights tailored accordingly.
- Your mobile workforce will be connected securely over the internet infrastructure. All data transmission is guarded using the most appropriate encryption – VPNs, SSL. By using the existing public infrastructure, we keep costs to a minimum.
- We simplify the management of your network security, so that compliance with strict standards and regulations involves no effort, no fuss.

Benefits of the Northgate Security Solution

Sleep better at night and spend your days focussed, not firefighting - with a sound, dependable, airtight system that ensures your data stays in the right hands. Northgate delivers:

- Protection for your company against internal and external security threats.
- A robust yet flexible solution that works for all employees whether on-site or working from home.
- Security tailored to your requirements so you enjoy the best of protection and productivity.
- A range of cost effective solutions that will simplify the management of your network security.

Testimonial

"For the first time ever, I'm confident our business information and communications are properly protected. It's brilliant to enjoy total peace of mind, even with so many employees who are working away from the office. Every day we're thankful we got Northgate to set up our security systems now, rather than leave it until whenever. When you consider the consequences of doing nothing, it's pretty frightening".

www.northgate-is.com/managedservices
e. info@northgate-is.com

making IT work